Executive Summary

Aladdin's service business shows mixed results across its teams. Some teams have strong positive scores in Market Differentiation, Local Visibility, and Customer Experience, which helps attract and keep customers. However, other teams struggle with service delivery, team performance, and operational excellence, risking customer dissatisfaction and growth hurdles. Overall, the company is starting from a diverse set of team performances with 16 participants involved for the first time, so there is no previous data to compare yet. Improving consistency and teamwork will be key to supporting strong growth and better client experiences.

Key Wins

- Some teams excel in Market Differentiation and Local Visibility, helping them stand out locally.
- Top performers show strong Customer Experience and Loyalty & Referrals, which boost repeat business.
- Certain teams have excellent scores in Operational Excellence and Growth Readiness, indicating readiness to scale.
- High scoring teams demonstrate strong Team Performance and Reputation, vital for consistent service delivery.

Key Risks

- Several teams show negative scores in Service Delivery and Team Performance, indicating inconsistency and potential service quality issues.
- Poor scores in Lead Generation and Sales & Upselling for some teams could limit customer acquisition and revenue growth.
- Lower Operational Excellence scores in some teams may lead to operational inefficiencies.
- Negative scores in Loyalty & Referrals suggest some customers may not return or recommend the business.
- Wide disparity between teams risks creating uneven customer experience and confusion for the brand.

Recommended Actions

- Standardize Service Delivery Processes
- Enhance Team Communication and Collaboration
- Train Staff on Local Market Engagement and Lead Generation
- Implement Customer Referral and Review Programs

- Focus on Operational Excellence Improvements

30-Day Action Plan

- Hold team meetings to discuss Brand Dyno findings openly and identify focus areas.
- Start documenting key service delivery steps to ensure consistent customer experience.
- Set small weekly goals for improving customer communication practices.
- Assign team members to research local market opportunities and community events.
- Begin encouraging happy customers to leave reviews and refer friends.

90-Day Forecast

With dedicated focus and team cooperation, Aladdin can expect to see steady improvements in service quality and customer experience within three months. Lead generation and operational processes will start improving, providing a stronger foundation for growth. Continued Brand Dyno assessments will track progress and guide further coaching efforts.
